

The Singularity Shuttle was an Adobe Flash movie which is no longer supported on the World Wide Web. Most of the ideas conveyed therein are contained in the various essays on the Singularity Shuttle homepage.

From the introduction:

GREETINGS!

Welcome to the Singularity Shuttle

An armchair adventure through Time... and good timing!

The next release is nearly ready for departure.

There's no need to hurry though, take a moment to settle back, unwind. Time travel is often thought of as high-speed but this shuttle is of a different mind. It's more a venerable vintage aircraft than a rocket; more about letting go than going somewhere. At any rate, nothing is required of you to come on board, it's a free ride. Your boarding pass is your imagination.

The Singularity Shuttle, you'll see, is a virtual vehicle, moving mind not mass. It's an imaginary conveyance designed to explore 'mindspace'. It navigates the defining ideas, the theoretical science informing our modern understanding of what all this — the Big picture, is really all about. To this end you're about to be released, free-falling into the gravitational center of the Earth, the Sun, the Milky Way, back in Time, back to the beginning, back to the Origin of the Universe... the Big Bang Singularity!

Just one proviso,

"The mind stretched to a new idea never goes back to its original dimension." Oliver Wendell Holmes Sr.
